

Anneke Franken van Bloemendaal

Lawyer and Partner

Anneke has been a lawyer since 2006. She specialises in environmental law, administrative law, planning and zoning law, the granting of permits and enforcement. Anneke advises and litigates on zoning and permit procedures for - for instance - offices, hotels, commercial and residential developments, retail and logistics projects, and the transformation and redevelopment of existing buildings. She also has extensive experience with land exploitation and environmental and nature conservation law aspects such as nitrogen, noise, traffic, and parking. She regularly publishes and lectures on these subjects. Anneke acts mainly for building developers and institutional and private investors, but also represents public authorities, civil-law notaries, estate agents, architects, property users and interest groups. Furthermore, she has extensive experience in administrative law enforcement cases and general administrative law matters, such as operating licences, compensation for loss resulting from administrative acts, subsidies, the Public Administration (Probity Screening) Act, the Open Government Act, and the enforcement of the Alcohol Act and Tobacco Act.

In 2006, Anneke completed her studies of Dutch law cum laude at the University of Amsterdam. During her studies she spent a semester at Columbia University in New York and in the final year of her studies she worked as a legal researcher at the University of Amsterdam. After graduating, Anneke worked as a lawyer at Brinkhof from 2006 to 2010, where she gained her knowledge of and experience in administrative law and European law. From 2010 until August 2022 she worked as an environmental and administrative lawyer at Hemwood (formerly Gijs Heutink Advocaten), where she further expanded her knowledge and practice in the field of environmental and planning law. She joined Sight Advocaten as a partner on the 1st of September 2022.

Anneke is a board member of ULI Next (Urban Land Institute) and a board member of the Young Collectors Circle. She is also a member of the Construction Law Association (VBR) and the Administrative Law Association (VAR).

Anneke provides in-house courses for her clients on request.
