

Wyke de Vos

Lawyer and Partner

Wyke has been a lawyer since 2006. She specialises in (spatial) administrative law. Wyke advises and litigates in the fields of zoning and planning procedures for business and housing developments, transformation and redevelopment of existing buildings, and the related environmental law and nature conservation law aspects. She also advises on the public law aspects of property transactions. Wyke primarily works for building developers and institutional and other investors, but also represents public authorities, civil-law notaries, estate agents, architects and interest groups. Wyke furthermore has broad experience in administrative law enforcement cases and general administrative law matters.

Since graduating in 2002, Wyke's has worked for the Administrative Law Division of the Council of State, among others. From 2006 to June 2014, she worked as an administrative lawyer in NautaDutilh's property practice in Amsterdam, after which she continued her practice independently, working together with other lawyers. She has been a partner at Sight Advocaten since 1 January 2022.

Wyke is a member of several professional associations, including the Vereniging voor Bouwrecht-advocaten (Construction Lawyers Association), the Vereniging voor Bestuursrecht (Administrative Law Association) and the Vereniging voor Milieurecht (Environment Law Association). She also provides in-house courses for her clients.

Wyke has registered the following main areas and subareas of law in the Register of Legal Practice Areas of the Netherlands Bar Association: Administrative Law and Environmental Law. On the grounds of that registration, she is required to obtain ten CPD points in each registered main area of law every calendar year, in accordance with the standards of the Netherlands Bar Association.

Specialist areas

Environmental and planning law

Environmental and planning law concerns our living environment and includes spatial administrative law, environmental law, nature conservation law and water law.

Environmental and planning law is inescapable in the development of property and other projects.

Sight advises and litigates in this regard in the fields of zoning plans, permits for deviating from the zoning plan, protection of ecological value, environmental impact assessments, building and listed-building permits, sustainability requirements, permits under the Huisvestingswet (Housing Act) and a wide range of other permits required for the realisation of projects, the operation of businesses or the use of buildings.

General administrative law

In addition to advising and litigating in the field of general administrative law, we also advise on supervision, enforcement and administrative penalties, subsidy regulations, public order and the Wet openbaarheid van bestuur (Government Information (Public Access) Act).
